

hollow markers are accepted by the calibrated radius; the probe moves within the operator's own level set

